

Effect on employees

An intervention [https://indemnity.sra.org.uk/consumers/using-solicitor/legal-jargon-explained#intervention] closes the firm [https://indemnity.sra.org.uk/consumers/using-solicitor/legal-jargon-explained#firm].

Your contract [https://indemnity.sra.org.uk/consumers/using-solicitor/legal-jargon-explained#contract] of employment is personal to you and your former employer. Unfortunately, we are unable to assume any rights or obligations [https://indemnity.sra.org.uk/consumers/using-solicitor/legal-jargon-explained#obligation] in relation to your contract.

Your former employer remains liable [https://indemnity.sra.org.uk/consumers/using-solicitor/legal-jargon-explained#liable] to you for your salary, references and the issue of a P45.

You should consider seeking independent [ /consumers/using-solicitor/legal-jargon-explained#independent] legal advice if you are unable to get hold of the above. Contacting Citizens Advice [http://www.citizensadvice.org.uk/] might be a good place to start, or if you are a member of a trade union [http://www.gov.uk/browse/working/rights-trade-unions], they may be able to help.
